What is TV to you? Some people say that TV is the cause of many social problems. TV watchers waste their time and get lazy. I know a lot of people who just can't seem to live without TV. As soon as they get home, they turn it on. Even if they have work to do, family to be with, or friends to see, they do it all with the TV on. On the other hand, many people think TV shows are educational. And others see the TV as their best friend. So who is right?

There are many benefits of watching television. By watching international news, we are kept informed and up-to-date with breaking news around the world. Some TV shows and channels show educational programs that can help us learn more about the world. Travel shows teach you about different people, cultures, ideas, and places you might never encounter in real life. Watching a variety of shows might give us new ideas and new information that we might never come across in our own lives. In addition, television can help you feel less lonely. It can be a kind of friend if you are alone. Or, it can be a social experience if you watch with family or friends.

Of course, many people say TV is bad and it's a waste of time. They say, watching television is not as good as doing other things like playing with friends, reading books, or learning things. They also say watching too much TV is bad for your health. It makes you fat. You have trouble sleeping. You have bad dreams. Your grades go down. And when you watch a television show, you are not talking to your family or playing with your friends outside. You are sitting in a chair and staring at the television. This is not good for you. You should spend less time watching television and more time with your family or friends outside in the fresh air.

In conclusion, if you watch TV too much, you can become fat and lazy, and not do any work. So, if this is you, maybe it's time to stop watching television and start living instead. However, if you watch the right shows, and don't watch too much, you can learn things, and get motivated to do stuff. Then TV is not bad at all.
