

Parts of speech import/export/logistics/supply chain provide deliver importable

 regulations
 provisory
 logistical exportable
 procurement
 manage deliverable
 procurement
 identification regulate logistically
 procured
 transportation

Noun	Verb	Adjective	Adverb
a logistics	X
b	procure		X
c provision			X
d	identify		X
e	import		X
f export			X
g _____		regulatory	X
h delivery			X
i _____		transportable	X

Complete the sentences with words from the table.

- To _____ goods from another country, you must first _____ the product and determine if it can be imported into your own.
- Next, you must _____ the goods from the foreign country. This can be done through buying, bartering, or other methods of trade.
- Once the goods have been _____, you must _____ them to your own country. This includes ensuring the goods meet all _____ requirements and paying any tariffs or taxes that may be required.
- Once the goods have arrived in your country, you must _____ them to their final destination. This may involve trucks, trains, or ships.
- Finally, you must _____ the goods to the customer or client. This may involve the _____ of instructions on how to use the product, assembling it, or _____ customer service.

Noun	Verb	Adjective	Adverb
a logistics	X	logistical	logistically
b procurement	procure	procured	X
c provision	provide	provisory	X
d identification	identify	identifiable	X
e imports/ importation	import	Importable	X
f exports/ exportation	export	exportable	X
g regulations	regulate	regulatory	X
h delivery	deliver	deliverable	X
i transportation/ transport	transport	tranportable	X

Complete the sentences with words from the table.

1. To import goods from another country, you must first identify the product and determine if it can be imported into your own.
2. Next, you must procure the goods from the foreign country. This can be done through buying, bartering, or other methods of trade.
3. Once the goods have been procured, you must transport them to your own country. This includes ensuring the goods meet all regulatory requirements and paying any tariffs or taxes that may be required.
4. Once the goods have arrived in your country, you must transport them to their final destination. This may involve using trucks, trains, or ships.
5. Finally, you must deliver the goods to the customer or client. This may involve the provision of instructions on how to use the product, assembling it, or providing customer service.