She arrives at school at 8AM. She goes straight to her locker and puts away her jacket and backpack. She goes to her first period class, sits down and listens to the teacher. At 8:50 AM, she goes to her second period class. She takes out her notebook and starts taking notes. Her third class is at 9:35 AM. This class is social studies. She likes this class so she pays attention and participates in the lesson. She does her work and turns it in when the bell rings.

The lunch break is at 12 noon. She eats her lunch while she chats with her friends in a garden under some trees. After lunch, she goes to several more classes. Then, at 2:05 PM, after her 8th class, she walks out of school and waves goodbye to her friends. She arrives home and goes to her room. She does her homework and studies for her upcoming tests. At 3:30 PM, she goes downstairs and eats a snack. She drinks a glass of milk and eats an apple. At 4:00 PM, she goes to the gym down the road to do some weightlifting.

Just after sunset, she comes back home and takes a shower. She washes her long hair. At 6:00 PM, she eats dinner with her family.
