Brainstorming travelling alone vs travelling in groups

Brainstorming traveling alone or traveling in a group

- 1. Alone: Kayaking solo allows for a peaceful, introspective experience where you can set your own pace and direction without compromise.
- 2. Group: Traveling in a group can offer a sense of security and shared excitement when discovering new places, as well as the practicality of group decision-making in navigation.
- 3. Alone: Hitchhiking alone can lead to serendipitous encounters and the flexibility to change your plans at a moment's notice.
- 4. Alone: Meeting new people and experiencing new cultures is why many people travel alone.
- 5. Alone: Have to be responsible and on the ball or you might be late for flights etc.
- 6. Alone: You might suffer bad experiences such as lost luggage alone. This could be depressing.
- 7. Group: Learning in a group, especially in educational or cultural settings, can be enriching as it allows for a variety of perspectives and shared learning experiences.
- 8. Group: Adventure sports like white-water rafting are generally group activities, as they require teamwork and coordination, enhancing the thrill and collective achievement.
- 9. Alone: Solo travelers can be vulnerable. Pick pocketers might choose them as easy targets.
- 10. Group: Experiencing outdoor activities such as safaris is often more enriching in a group.
- 11. Group: Group travel in remote or unfamiliar locations can offer safety in numbers and shared resources, making the experience less daunting.
- 12. Alone: Traveling alone can give you the freedom to explore at your own pace and make spontaneous decisions without having to consult others.
- 13. Group: Navigating with a group can be stressful.
- 14. Alone: When traveling alone, you have the chance to be entirely self-reliant, which can be empowering and lead to a deep sense of achievement.
