1. Hosting the Olympics in Paris will boost the local economy and create more jobs.

Agree Disagree

Reason: Economic studies suggest Olympic hosts often face long-term debt. But hey, at least Parisians will have shiny new venues to admire while job-hunting!

2. Paris 2024 will have the best opening ceremony ever, with stunning performances and fireworks.

Agree Disagree

Reason: Given France's rich cultural heritage and artistic prowess, it's likely to be spectacular. Plus, rumor has it they're teaching the Eiffel Tower to do backflips!

3. The French cuisine offered at the Olympics will be a major highlight for visitors and athletes.

Agree Disagree

Reason: French gastronomy is world-renowned. Athletes might set new records just running to the buffet!

4. Watching the Olympics on TV is just as exciting as being there in person.

Agree Disagree

Reason: While TV offers comprehensive coverage, it can't replicate the electric atmosphere of live events. Though it does spare you from overpriced stadium hot dogs.

5. The Paris 2024 Olympics will inspire more people to take up sports and lead healthier lifestyles.

Agree Disagree

Reason: Olympic events often spark increased interest in sports. However, "healthier lifestyles" may just mean more people eating croissants while watching gymnastics.

6. The ticket prices for the Paris 2024 Olympics are too expensive for most people.

Agree Disagree

Reason: Olympic tickets are typically costly, limiting accessibility. But look on the bright side - you can always watch for free from the Seine if you're a strong swimmer!

7. The Paris 2024 Olympics should include more unusual and fun sports like cheese rolling and pillow fighting.

Agree Disagree

Reason: While novelty might be entertaining, it could detract from the prestige of traditional Olympic sports. Though "extreme baguette fencing" does have a nice ring to it.

8. The new sports introduced in Paris 2024, like breakdancing, will be very popular with the TV audience.

Agree Disagree

Reason: Modern additions often attract younger viewers. Plus, who wouldn't want to see world-class athletes attempt to spin on their heads without getting dizzy?

9. The marathon event, running through the historic streets of Paris, will be the most exciting event of the games.

Agree Disagree

Reason: While scenic, marathons can be less engaging for spectators than faster-paced events. Unless, of course, they introduce a "stop at every café" rule to make it more French.
